Saturday Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bittancourt, 1327 May Street, wish to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Beverly Lauretta Baldwin to Mr. W. Brian Emerson, son of Mrs. Margaret I. Botterill. The wedding will take place on Saturday at First United Church with the Rev. A. I. Higgins officiating. (Photo by Chevrons).

Laundry Burns In Grocery Fire

Fire caused considerable smoke damage and destroyed a small amount of laundry yesterday at Newman's Grocery, 2201 Chambers.

Firemen said clothes were hanging on a rack over a lighted gas stove when they apparently caught fire and dropped to the floor.

Power Board Meets Soon

First meeting of the newly-appointed five-man B.C. Power Commission is expected to be held in mid-April.

The chairman, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, is scheduled to arrive in Victoria about April 11 from New York.

Tea, coffee and rubber plantations in India provide employment for more than 1,200,000 workers.

Soviet Terrorist

'The Worst Woman'

WEST BERLIN (WNS)—Soviet political terror in West Germany, now being stepped up to coincide with the crisis over Berlin, is directed by a woman — "quite likely the world's worst woman."

She is identified by Western security sources as Major Tamara Nikolayenna Ivanova, 49, chief of the German branch, 9th section of the MGB's Second Directorate.

The "Second Directorate" of the MGB (Soviet secret police) handles foreign intelligence, and the 9th section is for "terror and diversion."

The dossier of a Western security agency describes Major Ivanova as an "MGB career officer, the only female staff officer of the 9th division. She is nervous and overworked, a spinster, and very likely the world's worst woman."

MURDER MISSION

Major Ivanova joined the secret police in the mid-1930's as a German language instructor. She came to the attention of Western security agencies first in 1954 in connection with the case of Captain Nikolai Khokhlov, who defected from a mission to murder the chief of a Frankfurt anti-Communist underground organization.

Khokhlov, with the two East German assistants, was sent to Frankfurt to assassinate Georgi Okolovoch, chief of the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists (NTS), with a cigarette case pistol firing poison cyanide pellets.

She Who Loves Pets May Not Be One

PALMA DE MAJORCA, Spain (WNS)—"Beware of the lady who has a passion for pets," Dr. Virgilio Penaranda told members of the Majorca Sportsmen's Club. "Ten-to-one, she is incapable of loving a man properly.

"A man buys a dog in order to gain a friend," he continued. "A woman buys a dog either as a decoration or else to advertise her loneliness."
